

COMMUNITY-POLICE MEDIATION PROGRAM

Apply to be a Mediator with the New Orleans Community-Police Mediation Program!

INFORMATION (Application begins on page 5)

We are excited to announce the New Orleans Community-Police Mediation Program (CPMP) is accepting applications for new mediators. The program aims to improve relationships and build understanding between the community and the New Orleans Police Department. We provide community members and police officers the unique opportunity to have a face-to-face conversation to address conflict in their interactions with each other, be heard, and share their perspectives in a setting designed to further the potential for mutual understanding. Participants determine for themselves if they'd like to make agreements, and how they'd like to move forward.

The CPMP is a program of the Office of the Independent Police Monitor (OIPM), an independent, civilian police oversight agency whose mission is to improve police service to the community, citizen trust in the NOPD, and officer safety and working conditions.

SELECTION CRITERIA

You do not need any prior mediation experience or any particular education or employment experience. We will train you! All are encouraged to apply.

We will be selecting 15 community members to join the program and serve as Community-Police Mediators. We are looking for applicants who are committed to social change, self-determination, community-building, public safety, dialogue, and conflict resolution in New Orleans. This is an opportunity to be part of democratizing policing in our city, improving accountability by giving space for civilians to directly address officer misconduct, and using a transformative justice approach to create change in our public safety and legal justice system.

Applicants must be able to fulfill the following requirements and commitments:

- Lives in New Orleans area
- Commit to serving at least two (2) years as a mediator, from March 2024 to March 2026
- Available and committed to mediating AT LEAST five (5) cases per year. Mediations take place Monday through Friday between 9am and 7pm and require 3 hours of time. We try to schedule mediations as quickly as possible once a case is referred, so mediators must have enough flexibility to do a mediation with about 4-7 days' notice. Please note: the majority of mediations occur between 10am-4pm during the weekdays, so it is essential that you can make yourself available during these hours.

- Attend the virtual Orientation Session on Saturday, February 24th, 2024, from 10:00am-12:00pm.
- Attend all 50-hours of the mandatory certification training, which will take place over six (6) days, on March 16, 17, 19, 20, 23, and 24, from 9:00am-5:30pm.
- Attend a mandatory 5 hour follow up training in Fall 2024.
- Attend at least four (4) out of 12 professional development sessions per year, which take place monthly and are scheduled on a rotating schedule of Tuesdays – Thursdays either 12-2pm, 4-6pm, 5-7pm, 6-8pm, or 10am -12pm on Saturdays.

Skills and Attitudes Necessary:

- Empathic communication and listening skills
- The ability to hold space for intense emotions
- The capacity to demonstrate competence, composure and neutrality (open to hearing others' opinions and perspectives and an ability to put aside one's own biases)
- Committed to improving community-police relationships in New Orleans
- Comfortable giving and receiving constructive feedback
- Willing to learn past comfort zones with patience and humility
- Positive attitude
- Perseverance when faced with challenges
- In assigning mediators, we seek to match the demographics of our mediators to that of the participants as much as possible, so we seek to recruit mediators with the greatest diversity and range possible of gender, age, race, ethnicity, language, education, sexual orientation, and socio-economic background.

WHAT TO EXPECT AS A MEDIATOR

Initial 50-Hour Training

The OIPM has developed a comprehensive 50-hour training program, which prepares participants to mediate police-community conflict. Training is interactive and hands-on and includes a strong focus on role-playing and coaching to develop the mediators' skills.

The fifteen selected mediators will first attend the mandatory 50-hour training in March (see dates above), in which they will become trained in all aspects of the program, our model of mediation, and how to mediate a case from start to finish. Five NOPD officers will participate in the training as well to assist with role-plays, give mediators a sense of what it is like to mediate with officers, and serve as ambassadors to the program.

Participants must attend all sessions of the 50-hour training. If they miss more than 1 hour of training, they will not receive a certificate. If they miss more than 3 hours, they will be asked not to return to the training.

The training is facilitated by Tracee Ford, one of the country's top mediation trainers, who serves as the Director of Quality Development at Community Mediation Maryland and has more than 15 years of experience as a mediator and facilitator. OIPM offers the training at no charge to ensure that our mediators reflect the community's diversity with regard to age, race, income, education, gender, and ethnicity. The training is valued at $2,500 per trainee.

Mediating Cases

Once trained, the new mediators will join the pool of trained mediators from previous cohorts and will be eligible to mediate cases. Cases are referred to our program on a rolling basis throughout the year, with an average of 40-50 mediations per year, so approximately one case per week. Once a case is eligible for mediation, the program director emails the pool of mediators with the time, date, and location and asks who is available. The request for mediators typically is sent about 4-7 days in advance of the mediation date. Mediators reply as soon as possible with their availability and are selected based on availability and matching demographics of the participants. We use a co-mediation model, so two mediators are assigned per case. Newly trained mediators observe two mediations and then mediate two mediations with a more experienced mediator.

Mediations typically occur Monday through Friday between 9am and 7pm, with an occasional Saturday mediation. Mediators should expect a case to take approximately 3 hours (1 hour of prep and debrief and 2 hours for the mediation). Mediations take place at libraries, recreation centers, and non-profit meeting rooms across the city. After each mediation, mediators return surveys and a brief report to the program director and the case is then closed. Mediators are each provided with a $75 stipend per mediation session.

Professional Development

In-service mediation training is provided every month, in which mediators develop and practice their skills through role-playing, skill-building activities, debriefing challenges and discussing successes from their cases. The Program Director provides feedback and support to mediators on an ongoing basis.

PLEASE NOTE: The OIPM provides extensive mediation training that is valued at $2,500 per person, free of charge. In return, active participation in the program - which means being available to mediate at least 5 cases per year and attending 4 in-service trainings, as listed in the selection criteria above – is required. Before applying, please carefully read the “What to Expect as a Mediator” section and determine whether your schedule and other commitments will allow you to be an active participant in the program given the timing, locations, and turn-around time for scheduling mediations. We have only 15 spots in the program, and the program relies on having mediators who are committed and available to ensure we can provide these essential services to the community. We ask for your honesty about your commitment and availability to be an OIPM mediator and serve your community.
